

NORTH CAROLINA CENTER FOR SOUTH ASIA STUDIES

Barefoot across the Nation: Maqbool Fida Husain and the Idea of India

an international symposium

April 9-12, 2009

Presentations by

Susan Bean, Peabody Museum
Akeel Bilgrami, Columbia University
Veena Das, Johns Hopkins University
David Gilmartin, North Carolina State University
Tapati Guha-Thakurta, CSSS, Calcutta
Kajri Jain, University of Toronto
Ananya Jahanara Kabir, University of Leeds
Geeta Kapur, critic and curator, New Delhi
Bruce Lawrence, Duke University
Barbara Metcalf, University of Michigan
Ram Rahman, SAHMAT, New Delhi
Sumathi Ramaswamy, Duke University
Vivan Sundaram, artist, New Delhi
Patricia Uberoi, UNC-Chapel Hill
Karin Zitzewitz, Michigan State University

Inaugural Events

Thursday, April 9

6.50 pm

Nasher Museum of Art

Duke University

reception to follow

Conference Events

April 10-11

Duke University

John Hope Franklin Center

Room 240

2204 Erwin Road

This conference has been funded by the North Carolina Center for South Asian Studies, and the following Duke units: Visual Studies Initiative, Duke Center for International Studies, Provost's Common Fund, Duke Islamic Studies Center, Arts and Sciences Council, the Vice Provost for International Affairs, Department of History, John Hope Franklin Humanities Institute, John Hope Franklin Center for International and Interdisciplinary Studies, and the Trent Foundation. Info: sr76@duke.edu